Expreso Service Change – New Ports of Call

To Our Valued Customers,

As we move into 2009, Maersk Line continues to refine our operations, adjust liner services to meet your needs, and increase efficiencies where possible to ensure the stability and reliability of our services. Our commitment is to keeping your global ocean supply chain consistent and visible.

We are happy to announce that effective January 29, 2009 our Expreso service will be enhanced with the addition of a 4th vessel and 3 new ports of call. Service highlights include:

- Newly added ports of call: Progreso, Mexico; Belize Port, Belize; Mobile, Alabama.
- Faster inland moves from Mobile to Alabama and Tennessee (vs. other Gulf ports) gets your cargo to its destination fast and on-time.
- New Expreso service can be utilized as a second sailing to/from certain points in the South Atlantic area complimenting our existing South Atlantic Express service.
- Scheduled import arrivals to Mobile on Thursday mornings ensure your cargo can outgate for delivery before the weekend.
- Large vessels and multiple sailing options bring better flexibility to ensure your cargo moves when you need it to.
- Direct service from USA to Progreso, Mexico.
- Reefer service available from the new Port Belize to the U.S. East Coast via Panama.

The first Maersk vessel in the new service leaves from Mobile, Alabama on January 31, 2009. The newly added port call in Mobile is located at:
